

Common Tree Weta

Hemideina thoracica

This weta is found through out much of the north island of New Zealand. It is capable of biting when defending itself. They are 40-50mm long on average

One TREE WETA male often LIVES with up to TEN females !